

Highland Wonders

an educational series featuring the Natural History of the Okanogan Highlands and surrounding areas

Landscape photo by George Thornton

Free Event
donations
welcome

Where: Community Cultural Center of Tonasket, 411 S. Western Ave.
5:15 pm: Dinner benefiting Community Cultural Center
6:30 pm: Presentation with tea, coffee and desserts

A Deeper Vision: Wes Wehr and the Okanogan Highlands

Friday, March 1, 2019
with author Jack Nisbet

*Photo: Pteronopelys wehrii,
"the winged stranger."
Courtesy of Stonerose Interpretive Center*

Wesley Wehr was a child of western Washington who from an early age showed diverse talents and developed a real passion for fossils and gemstones. Wehr combined his artistic feel for geologic time with knowledge of living and fossil plants to become one of the premier amateur paleobotanists in the world. Beginning in the late 1970s, he turned his attention to the Okanogan Highlands. Join us as we explore how Wes Wehr experienced and helped to reveal hidden dimensions of our unique region.

Questions? julie@okanoganhighlands.org or 509-476-2432; www.okanoganhighlands.org/education/hw

Presented by:

In partnership with:

